Hev. Mr. Benuchamp Makes an Earnest Plea for Temperance in the Home-Meeting of Methodist Sunday-School Society-Other Nates.

"The Passion of the Cross" was the Subject of the morning sermon by Rev. Lewis F. Hite at the Mission Reom, 71-2 west Marshall street, on Sunday. The thought of the sermon was that the crucifixion was the culmination of the Lord's life on the earth, and as His whole life, like the entire Bible, was one great parable conveying to men the spiritual in-Diruction necessary for their salvation and eternal welfaro, so this last act has a spiritual meaning of supreme importance. men." This importance has been recognized by the Christian Church in making the cross the symbol of Christianity, and the passion of the cross Christianity's cornerstone, but the selfish heart of man and his spiritual blindness have robbed the fact of its larger and deeper meaning and reduced it essentially to an appeal to the natural sympathy which every one has for a sufferer. Added to this an elaborate system of theological and traclaborate system of theological and tra-ditional interpretation makes it next to impossible for men now to view the fact in its simplicity. If we once get clear the lesson of the Lord's life as a whole, which is, in a word, that He assumed man's nature and the body of flesh, purified, perfected, and glorified them, and so made hem the direct source of divine life to men, the lesson of the crucifixion is easily men, the lesson of the crucinxion is seen. The passion of the cross, the bodily pain of death which Christ suffered on the cross, corresponded to the pain of self-renunciation which He endured throughout His life, and supremely in the act of yielding Himself up into the heads of those who hated Him to be the act of yielding the hands of those who hated Him to be hands of those who hated Him to be hands of the subject of the most cruel indignities and then crucified. The struggle dignities and then crucified. dignities and then crucified. The struggle Sunday afternoon at 3:39 o'clock-Alfred it cost Him brought out great drops of J. Gary, president, and R. S. Valentine, it cost Him brought out great drops of sweat like blood, and the completeness of His victory is shown by the fact that, with all their cruel treatment, His perse-cutors could not arouse one spark of re-sentment in Him, and after it was all over He prayed: "Father, forgive them; they know not what they do." OVERCAME THE DEVIL.

Departed from Him for a season, will help us to see that the spiritual sigance of this victory was that in it the Lord overcame the Devil in his final attempt to break down the resolution, which the Lord with perfect fidelity adhered to from first to last, to live unselfishly the life of love for the good of others. The Devil could approach the Lord through His inherited human tendencies to live for self, to make use of His powers for self-satisfaction and en-We cannot conceive circum forment. From that moment it has been possible for every man to exercise the human control over evil which the Lord then ac-quired, if only the man will make the

With these words Rev. W. B. Beau-champ, of St. James Methodist church, begun his sermon Sunday night on the "Saloon in the Home"—a discourse of unusual elequence and abounding in opposite illustrations and vivid word-paint-ing. The speaker followed up his opening sentence with an interesting picture of a home in the country, in which he was reared—a few years ngo a happy, contented home, but now a place of mourning, because of the entrance of "that serpent of serpents," the saloon. "How many homes in this city, in this State, in this country," he asked, "have an incident recently coming under his transformed from happiness and affluence to a place of penury and wife-beating. nameless sorrow of a mother's heart; no

ONE EFFECT OF THE DINGLEY BILL.

Alteration of the Certificates-New Dies for Al.-Tobacco Cigarettes Not Yet Made.

Hundreds of cigarette operatives in this city have been forced to suffer great hardships of late, owing to the changes made by the newly-enacted Dingley bill and although Republican leaders had long been satisfied that it was to become a law, no effort seems to have been made to get new stamps ready by the time it went into effect. The consequence of this has been that none of the factories have been able to purchase cigarette stamps, and in several instances, not only the stamp adjusters, the saloon? for the time is not far distant when the home must either destroy the saloon or the saloon the home. Sixty thousand men die from drunkenness in this country every year, and if there is anything we have a right to hade with an eternal hatred it is the saloon. It is the screent of screents, entiwing its coils about our best men, poisoning with its venomous fangs the youth of our land, and crushing hope out of the hearts of mothers and sisters. Are we men? The stamps for all-tobacco cigarettes, which are called cigars under the new law, have not arrived yet, and advices from Washington state that they need not be expected before the 10th instant. Of course the excuse is that new dies have had to be designed and made, and that the government did not care to incur the expense entailed by this process until the bill was duly passed and signed by

During the service, and even until after the remains of the distinguished lawyer and citizen had been laid to rest in the cemetery, the bells of all the churches of the town tolled a solemn requiem.
